Blue Blood Supermoon Lunar Eclipse of January 31, 2018

SO WHAT IS A SUPERMOON - WHY IS EVERYBODY TALKING ABOUT IT?

The January 31st Supermoon will also be the second full Moon of the month, which is known as a Blue Moon. A Blue Moons happens every two and a half years, on average. This total lunar eclipse is also referred to as a Blood Moon because the moon often takes on a reddish color. The lunar eclipse on January 31 will be visible in from the Western North America along the East Coast across the Pacific Ocean, and as far as eastern Siberia and Asia. Most of North America will see a portion of the eclipse before the moon sets Eastern Asia. The first Supermoon occurred on Jan 2nd called the Wolf Moon, and a rare "blue" supermoon this year bringing in severe blizzard conditions along the East Coast and will continue on all month. Some are calling it the beginning of a mini-ice age. Hence the January 31, 2018 moon can also be called a royal (Leo) 'blue blood' total eclipse spectacle indeed. A full moon at perigee is visually larger up to 14% in diameter and shines 30% brighter than one at its farthest point, or apogee. Strictly speaking, a Supermoon, is declared when the moon is within 90% of its closest approach to Earth in a given orbit. This occurs when a full moon coincides with the perigee of the moon's orbital cycle. A perigee is the point at which the moon moves closest to Earth during orbit. Because the orbit is not a perfect circle, this means the moon typically sits anywhere between 252,000 and 226,000 miles from Earth. That is a difference of 26,000 miles—longer than the entire circumference of the Earth. Your mileage will vary — since weather conditions have a greater effect on the moon's brightness (cold temperatures?) than distance and the small variations in size are difficult to discern by the human eye for moons that are observed months apart. It is important to honor this energy however, for it seems that this Full Moon may be helping to bring things to the surface. If there are things that you need to hear or even secrets that need to be revealed this Full Moon is definitely going to be shining a light so you can see the truth.

This supermoon will traverse high in the sky in the Northern latitudes, because it is winter time. On Jan 23, 2018 we just witnessed an 8.2 Mega Earthquake in Anchorage, Alaska off Kodiak with a later withdrawal of the Tsunami warning. Ellipses as powerful as this are harbingers of severe weather changes. The red planet Mars, triggers aggressive action, is in opposition at the time of this event. The coming weeks are set to dazzle stargazers with some spectacular celestial events.

Cumulative human overburden from decades of consuming everything and living far beyond Earth's natural support ability is at the root of the problem. As a result dramatic environmental and climate impacts are now revealing themselves globally. People need to psychologically ready themselves for much greater changes and impacts in the years ahead.

We saw a glimpse into these weather changes across the entire USA continent last year called in my article: “The Great American Eclipse” of 2017. Fires burned in the West and the freezing conditions hit the East Coast The next solar eclipse after August 21, occurs on February 15, 2018 and is a partial eclipse visible in Antarctica and South America. January is a big month in astrology/astronomy as there are a lot of changes and shifts that are going to shower us with a new energy and a new outlook for the year ahead.

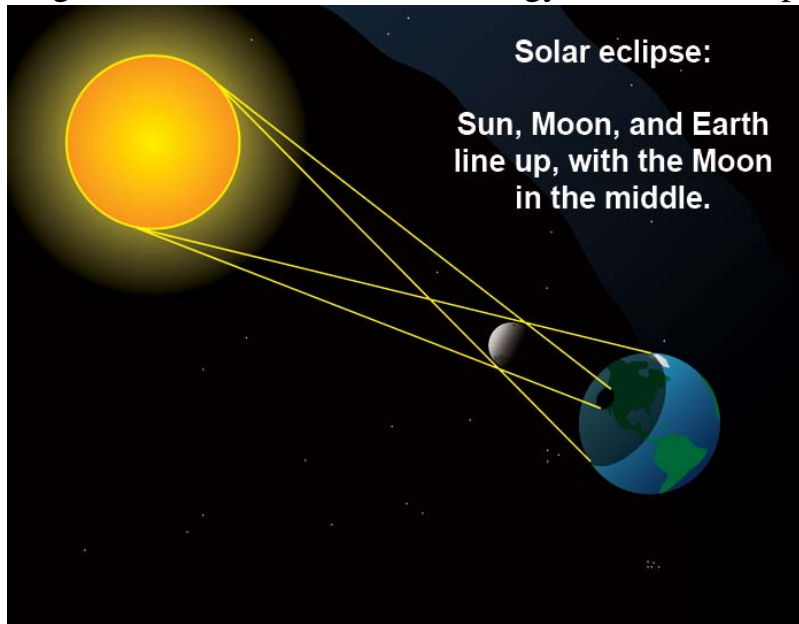

The first total lunar eclipse of 2018 will happen on the morning of Jan. 31st in the sign of Leo (Royalty). This eclipse will be special! The moon will be both "super" and "blue," in North America. Unlike last summer's Great American Total Solar Eclipse, lunar eclipses are completely safe to look at because the sun is below the horizon. Any sunlight that reaches the eclipsed moon has to pass over the Earth's horizon, painting the moon with reddish light — hence the nickname "blood moon" for eclipsed moons. And sometimes — once in a blue moon — the moon is full twice in a month (or four times in a season, depending on which definition you prefer). Blood Moons are rare and are even talked about in the bible. We've witnessed the chaotic changes across the entire United States as the bringing up of changes, personally, politically, financially and within. This eclipse is one of the most significant astrological events of the year! Do you remember February and August 2017? Discover what energy this rare and epic eclipse is going to bring to you personally in your life and is now being wrapped up, resolved and put to rest as disclosure opens more understanding of what's going on behind the scenes. This Full Moon is all about illuminating the truth, especially when it comes to how you communicate, and your true motives and intentions. If you or someone you know has been holding back the truth or doing things for the wrong reasons, this Full Moon may force things to rise up to the surface. You may find this energy playing out the most when it comes to your relationships. This includes romantic relationships but also the relationships you have with your coworkers, friends, and family. During this time, we may feel like we are taking two steps forward and one step back. We may also feel a bit stuck or stagnant. But hold on to your hats as the truth is going to be revealed, so be patient and allow things to unfold under the presence of this energy (The Globalist Agenda?). Whatever truths serve your highest good are going to come to the light, so be open and know that the truth can really set you free. The entire eclipse will be visible from northwestern North America, and morning twilight arrives, while Eastern Europe and Central Asia will see the eclipse already in progress when the moon rises. During totality, when the moon is fully in shadow, the moon's northern limb will pass just south of the center of the Earth's shadow, darkening the moon's northern half more than its southern half.

THE SPIRITUAL AWAKENING

We are experiencing an awakening to your soul purpose accelerated with this magnetic powerful Full Moon of letting go. It is helping to bring things to the surface. If there are things that you need to hear or even secrets that need to be revealed, this Full Moon is definitely going to be shining a light so you can see the truth.

Time to detox our physical body opening to the divine light within. What looks like “dark” is clearing, karmic repatterning us for a human life recreation. Your DNA is vibrating for the first time in years (billions) at a higher frequency. The essence of you, your gift to the world will transform not only yourself but the world. You don’t have to do anything but stay focused in your physical body. Regenerating the body like shedding the skins of a snake. The energy expansion allows us to ascend and take our bodies with us. Expanding our transformations will, from varying degrees of detoxing the physical body feels like our feet are stuck in quick sand but is preparing us to raise to the higher vibrations. Release the emotional issues that come up for you to look at, what is it to review and feel, deep rooted issues are activated to let go of. This prepares the reconnection to your higher self to occur. This is a spiritual reset as you temporally address dormant stresses in your body and mind opening to the creative forces of the universe. Expanding ourselves to absorb the transformational vibrations and hold them. Illuminating old pent up stored emotions are exposed. Creator God (El) Ascended (Sa) Unity (Om) light enables us to heal our bodily aches, pains and let go of emotional and physical stresses. We become more tranquil, harmonious as we accept and allow more clarity; we move into our full spiritual potential and oneness. We accept ourselves aligned with our soul’s renewal, liberated from limitation. Open the doorway to the magical cosmic world of light energy and sound vibrations leads to endless possibilities, the new dawn of 2018.

We will ascend from two DNA strands to the 12 original DNA strands and higher removed over the evolution of time. We’ve gone through four cycles of 26,000 years called the 4 Root Races or Constellations as Gaia “Tara” enters the “New Aquarius Age”.

The Mayan calendar of 2012, changed with the Gregorian calendar to show 2012, but is actually 2018.

The moon turns blood-red in this image of a total lunar eclipse from 2004. A total eclipse of a "blue moon" will occur on Jan. 31, 2018. What happened to you in 2004? Sometimes we get a blood red moon as the earth's shadow slowly creeps across its crater face. Depending on how things have gone in the last 6 months, we can now see the fruit blossom from the seeds we planted at the last solar eclipse. But if life has been stressful for us, putting pressure on those embryonic seeds, then what should be a birthing time can sadly turn into a miscarriage. Your personal lunar experience depends on how the eclipse is configured to your chart and how you handle change in general.

This is the first Blue Moon Total Lunar Eclipse in 150 years. The bright light of the sun throws a spotlight on our subconscious to illuminate any issues within our primary relationships that have been festering there since the previous Solar Eclipse in August 2017. Lunar eclipses are extremely emotional times, therefore we just really need to sit down quietly and listen to what comes up, for our feelings are our psychic barometer. Unashamedly ball your eyes out if you have to and allow red eyes with this blood red moon. Don't fear the tears for they are sacred salty purification.

Since we have Venus (love & money) with nurturing Ceres it is not the time to start an affair of the heart. Existing lovers, husbands and wives may be in for a shocker of the truth exposed as the surfacing theme is hard to ignore, exciting but rebellious. The King Leo also represents the Queen forcing redundancies will be very vocal about their plight of misunderstanding. She isn't going down without a fight of her own supremacy. This is also including the corporate world of power, the boss wants to change the architecture, but the feline curvaceous landscape should win. This financial battle has a victorious solution after all.

Full Moon in Leo – Jan 31, 2018

Whatever the weather outside, this full "Snow" Moon is painted by the conflict between the urge to just have fun and the perceived duty to do everything just so and give everyone their due, whether they merit it or not. Social pressures arise when individual constraints become just too much and people have to break out of the mold, sometimes unexpectedly. If this were hurricane season, you'd have a hurricane party, but if not so you'll have to think up another suitable excuse to let off steam and let others do so, too. Kids can turn the simplest situations into a play-party, and you reap your profits now when you do the equivalent.

WESTERN ASTROLOGY STAR SIGN

The zodiac reflects this process from the spark of the birth of Aries (the first sign of the zodiac), the growth through the signs, and the completion and undoing in Pisces (the twelfth sign).

Aries (March 21-April 19) Full Moon in 05th House

Spontaneity is the watchword right now, and it's time to kick back and have some fun, especially with close friends and children. If you're at a party and go just a little bit over the top, you will likely be in good company, as this is a general time of celebration for all. Passion and intensity, on any topic you choose, can run rampant and enthusiasm overflows. If you're trying to get business done, you'll be swimming against the tide, so if you have the option, just go with the flow. If you're working on a creative project, make sure you get the product preserved for posterity -- on paper, on film, on tape, on CD. If you're just going to be pleasantly out to lunch, don't bother, just enjoy. Birthstone: Bloodstone, Diamond

Taurus (April 20-May 20) Full Moon in 04th House

You may find you could use a little more space at home as everyone there, including yourself, is taking up a lot more psychic space than usual right now. That can be claustrophobic and you can get on each other's nerves -- or you can use it as the opportunity to connect more by opening that personal space and letting people in. Or, you can just get out of the house and take a break from it all. Whatever you choose, you will find yourself with matters coming to a head and you'll be making conclusions about just how well your internal game plan is working out. Literally and figuratively, good fences make good neighbors, but only when located strategically. Time to finish yours, test it. Birthstone: Emerald, Blue Tourmaline

Visionary Change

Gemini (May 21-June 20) Full Moon in 03rd House

Don't everybody talk at once! That's what you're likely to be saying as the volume level around you peaks and everybody is trying to get a message through, including yourself. Full Moon is like that in general, but this time it can be especially wordy as you try to finish up a lot of correspondence and tie up loose ends as the links you have established begin to really amount to something. That means crowding a lot of important last-minute things into the space of a few days, so don't over schedule yourself in advance. Leave plenty of room open for last-minute situations that come rushing in and demand equal attention. Concentrate on matters that require conclusion and closure right now, save your new ideas for later when they can get proper attention. Birthstone: Agate, Sapphire

Cancer (June 21-July 22) Full Moon in 02nd House

Under a little more intensity than usual, it's time to wrap things up financially, collect on projects that have come to fruition, and generally tie up loose ends. That should mean ending extra spending for a time, as it will be less necessary, but that's hard to do on a Full Moon, when things are a little crazy and judgment isn't always on the mark. Still, put your focus on that last payment, that final accessory, as the appropriate approach is to round out what you have done, put on the final touches, and then showcase it. It's a time to show off what you've got and make the most of it, not keep piling it on. You should concentrate on reaping its rewards. Birthstone: Moonstone, Pearls

Leo (July 23-August 22) Full Moon in 01st House

For a day or so you may find things get fairly wacky in your surroundings, and one of the causes may be you. The time is right (and the pressure is on) to bring critical projects to a conclusion, put on finishing touches, and show the world just what you're all about. The emphasis is not so much on what you've done, but rather who you are, and it's the right time to let your personality out of the box and shine, shine, shine. The whole set of circumstances may have you a little giddy, but that's part of the surrounding picture at Full Moon, and this is your time to take a ride on that energy and put your personal mark on what comes of it. Birthstone: Rubies, Sunstone

Virgo (August 23-September 22) Full Moon in 12th House

Although this Full Moon may at times seem to place you between dream and hallucination, it emphasizes the ability to perceive and commune with your inner self in ways you might have been cut off from it. The intensity in the air breaks internal barriers and allows you to heal wounds, now that they have come to light. In more mundane affairs, things being cooked up behind the scenes come to fruition, although you may have to take extra precautions that they don't come into the light, unless you are fully ready to go public with them. Avoid confrontations right now, which will put you at a disadvantage, use subtler means to gain your ends when emotions run high. Birthstone: Peridot, Blue Sapphire, Lapis Lazuli

Libra (September 23-October 22) Full Moon in 11th House

Relaxation, comfort with your surroundings, and the warmth and glow of friendship can be the watchwords of this Full Moon, if you're willing to disconnect from the daily grind and tap into your personal happy side for a while. Fine food, pleasant company, tales of shared lives and mutual adventures bring a fullness that makes you realize that the good life is about feelings, not money, friendship, not possessions. Satisfaction comes from just letting things happen for a moment and inviting in the blessings that surround you, despite the rigors of existence. If you want a peak experience, it's in the wings right now, roll it out. Take the time to put the seal on relationships that elevate and support you. Birthstone: Pink Tourmaline, Opal

Scorpio (October 23-November 21) Full Moon in 10th House

This may be the perfect time to button down career matters that have been under development for a while. Although the pace may be accelerated and last-minute additions come crowding in, you can have a fuller, rosier picture of just where you stand in your profession and what people think of you. Choose this spot for releasing a shotgun blast of self-promotion, whatever it is you do, as public relations has extra carrying power from this Full Moon. The buzz about you comes in a rising crescendo that peaks now, so start figuring out ways to take it to the bank. Although you may be tempted to squirrel yourself away at home, take time out during these few days to wave your own flag. Birthstone: Yellow Topaz,

Sagittarius (November 22-December 21) Full Moon in 09th House

Think big, stretch the imagination, push the envelope of your beliefs and feelings -- this Full Moon has the potential to be an eye-opener. The energy is in the air to expand your window on the world, especially where it has been an ongoing operation already in the works. The heady feeling of suddenly having put it all together can have you wondering now what to do with it all, but that will take care of itself down the line. Look for good news on the legal front, as things wrap themselves up and come to a conclusion, but don't count your chickens yet, as it's easy to overestimate right now. Main issues can get resolved now, as all parties are willing to go an extra mile to agree in principle, if not on the details. Birthstone: Turquoise, Blue Topaz

Capricorn (December 22-January 19) Full Moon in 08th House

If you've been chasing down that extra credit line, looking for a better deal on a mortgage or equity loan, this is a likely time to pull it all together, as long as you've got all your ducks in a row. That may mean scrambling for some last minute details or information to make it under a deadline, but there's real potential here. It's also good psychic weather for putting the finishing touches on restoration projects, picking up that antique you've been chasing down, and clearing out the cobwebs that may have been settling on lesser-used items. You'll have the courage to toss out those useless things you've been hoarding, and the burst of freedom will do you good. The theme: finish clearing the decks for action. Birthstone: Garnet, Tigers Eye

Aquarius (January 20 to February 18) Full Moon in 07th House

This is a wonderful time to let your partner shine and just lay back and appreciate it all. That can mean enjoying the fruits of your mutual labors wrought by the relationship, or it can mean finally fully connecting with someone you've been developing something special with for a while. In either case, the rewards of connecting closely will take center stage, and you can lean on the familiarity you already have to support what comes next. This can apply equally well in business as in romance, as long as you're dealing with an equal on equal ground. The essence is that you bring things to full bloom right now, so you can begin harvesting what you have sown. Birthstone: Aquamarine, Hematite

Intention: May I be creative and courageous in the quest to influence the world. The Age of Aquarius!

Pisces (February 19 to March 20) Full Moon in 06th House

If you aren't finally achieving something from your diet or exercise regimen, ask yourself why not. This is the time you should be really getting things together and it should be starting to pay off. However, avoid excess and going over the top right now, as you may feel you can do more -- and maybe eat more -- than you really should. At work, you may feel a little overbooked as tasks multiply and time is short to complete them. Once you've put on the finishing touches, you'll be able to stand back and take pride in your accomplishments. A good time for an office party, if you can concoct a good excuse for one. In general right now, celebrate finished tasks. Birthstone: Amethyst, Kambaba Jasper
